Behind each clear insight is a powerful engine.

You've spent years honing your legal instincts. We've designed Lexis Advance to help you make the most of them.

With the simplified Lexis Advance design, you can easily find what you need—where you expect it to be—and pursue legal insight your way.

The screenshot displays the Lexis Advance Research interface. At the top, there is a navigation bar with 'Lexis Advance Research', a 'Browse' dropdown, and user options like 'Client: None', 'History', and 'More'. The main header features the 'Lexis Advance' logo and a search bar with the placeholder text 'Enter terms, sources, a citation, or shep: to Shepardize®'. Below the search bar, the interface is organized into several panels:

- History: A panel with tabs for 'Searches', 'Documents', and 'Shepard's®'. It lists recent searches such as 'Priebe v. Nelson', 'age discrimination Research', and 'Disability'.
- Favorites: A panel with a 'Tips' link, listing saved searches like 'Legal News - Sources: National Disability Law Reporter'.
- Alerts: A panel with a bell icon, showing active alerts for cases like '120 U.S. 327' and 'Reason for dismissal - conduct'.
- Notifications: A panel with a right-pointing arrow.
- Archives: A panel with a folder icon, providing information about archived codes and a link to 'Archived Codes Search'.
- Support: A panel with links for 'Access Lexis Advance® Help', 'Search | Browse', 'Tutorials', and 'Contact Customer Support'.
- News: A panel titled 'News' powered by LAW360, featuring recent legal news items with dates and times.
- Latest Updates: A panel with a heading and a link to 'Learn more about our latest release'.

At the bottom of the page, there is a footer with the LexisNexis logo, navigation links (About LexisNexis®, Privacy Policy, Terms & Conditions, Sign Out), copyright information (© 2015 LexisNexis), and the RELX Group logo.

View search history, favorites, notifications, alerts, folders and support resources all at once from the Lexis Advance home page.

Search your way.

Today's fine-tuned algorithms are based on legal concepts, not public search results. This helps you return relevant search results faster so you can be thorough while focusing on what's important.

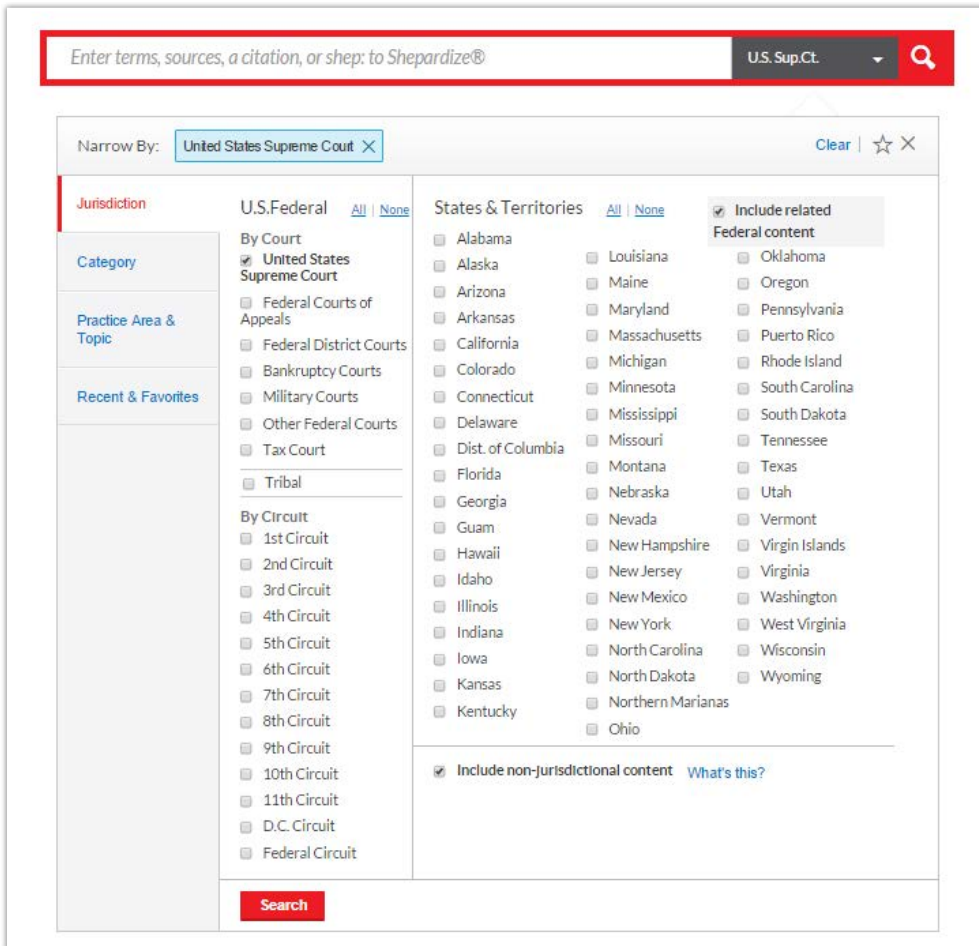

Using the red search box, you can start with a narrow search or a single broad search across your subscription—your choice.

Sources

- You can easily choose specific sources before searching ... but you don't have to.
- Alternately, you can search all Lexis Advance content—plus vetted legal sites on the open Web—at the same time. Only Lexis Advance gives you this option.
- A broad Lexis Advance search encompasses tens of thousands of sources and millions of documents are at your fingertips. Get a specific case or statute in a snap. Or find relevant case law, annotated federal and state statutes, exclusive Matthew Bender® treatises, dockets, business and legal news and much more.

Pre-filtering options

If desired, you can narrow your search up front by pre-selecting jurisdictions, content categories or practice areas.

In advance of your search, you can choose to narrow it by specific criteria, as shown here. (You can also filter to refine your search results—see page 5.)

Creating your search

Enter your search in the red search box using natural language, terms and connectors, citation, popular statute name or case name.

As you enter search terms, the most-searched legal phrases and documents related to your topic will display in case you would like to use them. And if you enter all or part of a source title, Lexis Advance will suggest sources.

Begin entering your search, and Lexis Advance suggests search terms you can choose, if desired.

View clear, flexible result sets

You can look at an overall snapshot of results ... or select a specific portion to view—ranging from cases, statutes and legislation to secondary materials, jury instructions, dockets, company and financial information, open-Web results and more. Your search terms are clearly highlighted.

The screenshot shows a search results page with a sidebar on the left and a main content area on the right. The sidebar contains a 'Snapshot' tab and a list of categories: Cases, Statutes & Legislation, Administrative Codes & Regulations, Administrative Materials, Secondary Materials, Forms, Briefs, Jury Instructions, Jury Verdicts & Settlements, Expert Witness, Dockets, Directories, News, Legal News, Scientific Materials, and Company & Financial. The main content area is titled 'Cases' and features a toolbar with icons for 'Add to', 'Print', 'Share', 'Email', and 'More'. A 'Sort by: Relevance' dropdown is also present. Two case results are displayed:

Options for viewing results appear in a clean, vertical list—no need to work with tabs running across your page.

Refine research based on your needs

Quickly get to the most important issues. After your search, you can easily search again within your result sets—or narrow as needed.

The 'Narrow by' sidebar menu shows the current filter set to 'United States Supreme Court'. Below this, there is a 'Search within results' field. The menu is organized into sections: 'Category', 'Jurisdiction', 'Court', and 'Practice Areas & Topics'. Under 'Practice Areas & Topics', the following items are listed with their respective counts:

Copyright Law	2,234
Civil Procedure	1,456
Criminal Law & Procedure	890
Computer & Internet Law	56
Trademark Law	37
Patent Law	26

There is a 'More' link and a 'Select multiple' option at the bottom of the sidebar.

The 'Timeline' filter interface shows a blue area chart representing the distribution of results over time from 2010 to 2012. Below the chart, there are two date pickers: '04/22/2010' and '05/30/2011'. An 'OK' button is located at the bottom of the interface.

A convenient timeline filter gives you drag-and-drop simplicity.

You can narrow by jurisdiction, court, attorney, keywords, law firm, judge and more.

View and deliver your documents

- Documents have been optimized to provide a clean view with intuitive navigation tools. You can easily return to your results list, view the previous document or move on to the next.
- Plus, save time organizing documents with quick delivery options, such as save to folder, download, print and email.
- When you view a full-text case, you also get a new Shepard's[®] preview that offers highlights of the report before you Shepardize[®]. (See page 10.)
- You can easily highlight portions of your document and annotate for future reference.
- Table of Contents (TOC) sources are hierarchically arranged and can expand to display the parts and chapters you need to review—without searching. If you choose, you can also search just the parts you need.
- The Browse Source feature, red search box and results list all offer links to enter a Table of Contents and browse to view documents.
- In addition, you can easily select specific parts to view, save or deliver from a Table of Contents.

The exclusive Legal Issue Trail™

This visual research tool uses LexisNexis® technology to quickly find connections between cases, helping you efficiently analyze how an issue has evolved over time.

The screenshot displays the Lexis Advance Research interface for the case Kimmel v. Fla. Bd. of Regents, 528 U.S. 62. The interface includes a search bar with the query "age discrimination", a navigation menu with options like "Browse", "Client: -None-", "History", and "More", and a document header showing the case name and "Actions".

The main content area features a "Copy Citation" button, the case title, and a "Legal Issue Trail™" section. The trail highlights the issue "age discrimination" in yellow. Below this, the "Case Summary" section includes a "Procedural Posture" subsection, which states: "Regarding petitioner employees' actions alleging that respondent state employers discriminated against petitioners on the basis of age, petitioners filed petitions for writs of certiorari to the United States Court of Appeals for the 11th Circuit, which determined that the Age Discrimination in Employment Act of 1967, 29 U.S.C.S. 6 621 et seq., did not abrogate the State's U.S. Const. amend. XI immunity."

On the right side, the "Shepard's®" panel provides citation analysis, including "Citing Decisions (1826)" with a breakdown: Caution (51), Positive (289), Neutral (91), and Cited By (1491). It also lists "Other Citing Sources (2727)". Below this, the "About This Document" panel offers options like "Original Source Image", "Related Documents", "Other versions", "Related Court Materials", "Briefs (16)", "Topic Summaries", and "View reports (4)". A "Legal Issue Trail™ | Tips" section includes an "Activate Passages" button.

Pinpoint a relevant legal issue in your full-text case, and the Legal Issue Trail™ feature within Lexis Advance connects you to more cases that cite to your case on that legal issue; and/or supporting cases your case cited on that issue.

Timely alerts

Convenient alerts help you stay on top of the latest changes in your results—covering cases, topics, Shepard's analysis, pending legislation, news and more. Or you can set up a publication alert and receive updates without a search query.

In addition, the Lexis Advance service offers real-time alerts among your delivery options so you can get the information you need when you need it.

Research Map

Get a step-by-step graphical depiction of your prior research history so you can quickly pick up where you left off.

The screenshot displays the Lexis Research Map interface, which provides a visual history of search activities. At the top, there are navigation tabs for 'List' and 'Research Map', and buttons for 'Add to', 'More', 'Compare Search Results', and 'Find Similar Documents'. The main content is divided into three sections:

- age discrimination and employment (Jul 25, 2013 - 10:07:00 AM, Client: -None-): This section shows a search tree starting from the main query. It branches into 'Cases' (123,456), 'Statutes & Legislation' (3,456), and 'Web' (456,789). From 'Cases', it further branches into 'U.S. Federal or Ohio' (7,890) and 'Jan 1, 2000 - Dec 31, 2013' (689). From 'Statutes & Legislation', it branches into 'Codes' (234,567) and 'license' (67,890). From 'Web', it branches into 'Unjust Dismissal' (34,298) and 'Personal Injury' (67,890). A document icon with a '1' indicates one item was explored.
- Accessed ($): 2 Items (Jul 24, 2013 - 6:35:22 PM, Client: -None-): This section shows a search for '2 items', with a document icon and a '2' indicating two items were explored.
- wrongful termination (Jul 24, 2013 - 11:17:41 AM, Client: -None-): This section shows a search for 'wrongful termination' leading to 'Cases' (123,456), with a document icon and a '1' indicating one item was explored.

Research Map identifies explored versus non-explored paths and allows you to uncover new results that may have been missed but are still relevant to your case.

By selecting Compare Search Results, you can compare results from two to three different searches to see if there are any commonalities. If there aren't, you can move forward with confidence, knowing you've uncovered the most relevant documents for your case.

In addition, you can drill down and look for commonalities between documents by selecting a document within Research Map, then clicking Find Similar Documents. You can also work more efficiently by accessing case files and external links through your Research Map and storing your information in work folders or history. Finally, you can deliver your Research Map to others to share your work.

Turn insights into action.

Take advantage of smart connections and integrated analytics. Lexis Advance is built on the most advanced technology platform available. Whether you're building a case, making a deal or managing a transaction, sophisticated but easy-to-use tools can help you turn research into action.

For example, proprietary technology enables you to benefit from LexisNexis® Public Records and SmartLinx® technology, which reveals relationships among people, businesses and locations even when they don't share a public records document.

With Lexis Advance, you have access to a variety of best-in-class applications—all in one place—to help optimize the way you work:

- Lexis Advance Tax® provides facts and analysis for the most pertinent matters practitioners handle every day, from tax litigation, corporate reorganization, and structuring new business entities to designing estate plans or managing an organization's tax compliance.
- Lexis® for Microsoft Office®, enabling you to access Lexis Advance content while working on documents in Microsoft® Word or Outlook® emails
- Lexis Practice Advisor® transactional guidance, tools and resources organized by practice area
- LexisNexis® Counsel Benchmarking analytics to help you anticipate the cost of potential litigation
- LexisNexis® Public Records—encompassing more than 37 billion public records—with unparalleled LexID® linking and SmartLinx reporting technologies to uncover hidden connections and help you spot important issues
- LexisNexis® Verdict & Settlement Analyzer to help you assess case risk and opportunity
- LexisNexis MedMal Navigator®, integrating medical and legal research with case facts to inform your strategy
- LexisNexis® CaseMap® case analysis software, combining facts, documents, your cast of characters and case issues to help you achieve optimal outcomes
